

Employee Handbook

Enterprise Knowledge Assistant — Sample Knowledge Base

1. Welcome and Purpose

This employee handbook provides general guidance on workplace expectations, employee responsibilities, communication practices, and company procedures. It is intended to help employees understand how the organization operates.

2. Scope

The handbook applies to employees of the organization unless a specific employment agreement, policy, or applicable law provides different requirements.

3. Working Hours

Standard working hours are 9:30 AM to 6:00 PM, Monday through Friday, unless the employee's role or approved work arrangement specifies different hours.

4. Attendance and Punctuality

Employees are expected to arrive on time, remain available during scheduled working hours, and inform their manager promptly when they are unable to attend work.

5. Workplace Conduct

Employees are expected to behave professionally, treat colleagues respectfully, cooperate with team members, and maintain a workplace free from harassment, discrimination, intimidation, and abusive behavior.

6. Communication

Business communication should be conducted through approved company channels. Employees should respond to work-related messages within a reasonable period and maintain professional language in written and verbal communication.

7. Confidential Information

Employees must protect confidential company, customer, financial, technical, and employee information. Confidential information must only be shared with authorized individuals who have a legitimate business need.

8. Information Security

Employees must use approved security controls, protect passwords and authentication credentials, and report suspected security incidents promptly. Company data should not be copied to unauthorized personal devices or services.

9. Company Equipment

Company-provided laptops, devices, software, and accessories are intended primarily for business purposes. Employees must take reasonable care of company equipment and report loss, damage, or malfunction.

10. Acceptable Technology Use

Employees may use company technology for reasonable personal activities when permitted, provided such use does not interfere with work, violate company policies, introduce security risks, or consume excessive resources.

11. Remote and Hybrid Work

Employees approved for remote or hybrid work must maintain a suitable work environment, remain reachable during scheduled hours, protect company information, and follow the same performance and conduct expectations as office-based employees.

12. Meetings

Employees should attend required meetings on time, review relevant materials in advance, participate appropriately, and communicate in advance when they cannot attend.

13. Performance Reviews

Employees normally receive a formal performance review once each year. Managers may also conduct periodic check-ins to discuss goals, progress, development needs, and feedback.

14. Professional Development

Employees are encouraged to improve their technical, professional, and communication skills. Training opportunities may be provided based on role requirements, business priorities, and available programs.

15. Expense and Business Travel

Employees who incur approved business expenses must follow the reimbursement procedure and retain appropriate receipts or supporting documentation.

16. Leave and Time Off

Employees must follow the company's leave policy when requesting annual leave, sick leave, emergency leave, or other approved time away from work.

17. Conflicts of Interest

Employees should disclose situations that could create an actual or potential conflict between personal interests and company responsibilities. Employees must not use their position for improper personal gain.

18. Intellectual Property

Work products created by employees as part of their assigned duties or using company resources may belong to the company according to applicable agreements and law. Employees must protect company intellectual property.

19. Workplace Safety

Employees must follow applicable workplace safety procedures and report hazards, accidents, or unsafe conditions to the appropriate manager or department.

20. Grievances and Concerns

Employees who have workplace concerns should raise them with their manager, HR, or another designated company contact. Concerns should be handled respectfully and through appropriate channels.

21. Disciplinary Expectations

Failure to follow company policies, workplace standards, or lawful instructions may result in corrective or disciplinary action in accordance with company procedures and applicable law.

22. Policy Changes

The company may update policies and procedures when business requirements, technology, or applicable regulations change. Employees are expected to follow the current approved policies communicated by the company.
